CONSUMER BEHAVIOR: ROLE OF MARKET RESEARCH

3rd May, 2015 – 9th May, 2015

Venue:

VGSOM, IIT Kharagpur,

I Overview:

The study of consumer behavior is of utmost importance for a marketer; it is through an understanding of the consumer behavior that a marketer can strategize and create an effective marketing program. As the discipline is interdisciplinary and borrows heavily from other social sciences, it is essential that qualitative and quantitative tools be employed to understand the consumer and it is here that the role of market research assumes importance. What is required is an understanding of the consumer psyche through a blend of the study of Consumer Behavior with Market Research. The course on “Consumer Behavior: Role of Market Research” would provide an ideal platform to blend the conceptual and theoretical knowledge base with an empirical and application oriented perspective.

II Objectives of the Course:

Research in the area of Consumer Behavior necessitates a blend with Market Research. With this premise as a foundation, the course is aimed at introducing to the participants the study of Consumer Behavior, with an emphasis on the role of Market Research. The focus of the programme would be on the application of research methods on the study of consumer behavior, in the Indian marketing environment. The objectives of the programme include the application of quantitative and qualitative analytical tools to the basic theoretical and conceptual aspects of Consumer Behavior. The course essentially deals with a conceptual base as well as an application base through a mix of study of Consumer Behavior in the Indian context, and the role of Market Research. The Objectives of the Course are listed as follows:

- To discuss the theoretical aspects of consumer behavior.
- To discuss the role of market research.

- To understand the role of market research on consumer behavior.
